

Privacy Statement for the Mildred H, Smith Foundation, Inc. (MHSF) is as follows:

MHSF is committed to respecting the privacy and security of all visitors to our Website. We recognize that when you choose to provide us with information about yourself, you trust us to protect your privacy and to provide you with choices about how that information is shared.

By using our Website, you consent to the collection and use of your information by MHSF, as described below.

Types of Information Requested:

Users may visit the Website without giving MHSF any personal information. MHSF will collect name, mailing address, telephone numbers, fax numbers, email address, and other information voluntarily provided by individuals who register to access MHSF's educational course content.

How Your Personal Information Is Used:

MHSF does not disclose to third parties any information it gathers from the website which could be used to track your individual access and navigation of our site. In order to maintain the integrity of the personal information you provide, we have chosen to refrain from asking you anything more personal than your individual contact information. To defer the costs of bringing you online service, we may at times distribute aggregate information about our users to advertisers or business associates, but we will never individually identify you.

MHSF may use email and street addresses voluntarily provided by site visitors to notify them of updated courses, services or upcoming events. Site visitors who do not wish to receive such notifications via email can choose to opt out of receiving such information at any time, by indicating either at time of registration, or upon receipt of any promotional email.

Non-identifiable Web site visitor data may be collected and used in the aggregate to help shape and direct the creation and maintenance of content placed on our Web site.

Resale or Disclosure of Information to Third Parties:

MHSF does not sell or otherwise distribute individual information about those using our Web site.

Credit Card Security:

Currently, this site collects information (e.g., name, title, institution, mailing address, telephone number, fax number, e-mail address, payment information) voluntarily provided by individuals who register for MHSF's educational offerings online. Sensitive information, such as your credit card number, is not requested or collected through this site. Credit card information is not stored on this Web site in any manner. It is for this reason that we require individuals who choose to purchase our on-line courses to download the course, register on-line, and send the completed registration form, completed answer sheet, completed program evaluation and required payment to the office.

E-mail:

Messages that you send to us via e-mail may not be secure. MHSF suggests that you do not send any confidential information to us by e-mail. If you choose to send confidential information to us by e-mail, you accept the risk that a third party may intercept your information.

Links:

MHSF's Web site contains links to other sites. Please be aware that we are not responsible for the privacy practices or content of other sites. We encourage users when they leave our site to read the privacy statements of each Web site that collects personally identifiable information.

If you have any questions and/or concerns regarding what is done with information provided via this site, please e-mail your concerns to R. Wynne Simpkins at rws1pnao@aol.com.